

Vienna
CENTROPA
Prague
SUMMER
Berlin
ACADEMY
4.-13.July 2016

JEWISH HISTORY, HOLOCAUST, AND HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE GLOBAL CLASSROOM

At Centropa, we turn the great cities of Central Europe into a classroom—for adults. Apply now for what teachers have called “the single most powerful learning experience I have ever had.”

We'll meet with historians such as Philipp Blom, author of Fracture: Life & Culture in the West 1918-1938; discuss Klimt, Schiele and art restitution with experts; interview and have lunch with thirty Holocaust survivors; meet diplomats; tour the grand palaces of Habsburg Vienna; and tour the Jewish Museum, too.

Take a behind-the-scenes tour of the Prague Jewish Museum and its cemetery; tour fabled Castle Hill; and enjoy the hospitality of the Czech Foreign Ministry where we will meet with diplomats, then tour one of the grandest palaces in all of Europe. We will also visit Theresienstadt with survivors who will recount what it was like to survive in the Nazis' "model" ghetto.

The Deutsche Bank will host us in their headquarters, where a panel of experts will speak on technology and education; the German Foreign Office will also host us, and we'll have working sessions in the two biggest political foundations in Germany. We'll take a tour of Cold War sites, discuss the rise of Nazism and the fall of Communism, and delve into Europe's problems and possibilities today—from Ukraine to the refugees from the Middle East.

Each day you will work with teachers, museum educators, and administrators from other countries, all of whom have the same goals: to connect our 21st century students to 20th century history in ways they find engaging. But we'll also challenge you, so you can challenge them, on how to find “true north” morally, ethically, in past history and current events—and you will design projects so they can do all this with their counterparts in other lands. Our goal: broaden minds while shrinking the world.

INTERESTED?

Apply here:

<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/csa2016application>

For costs and other questions, please contact:

Lauren Granite,

Education Director, North America,

granite@centropa.org